

MODERN SLAVERY ACT STATEMENT

Statement on behalf of Cigna in the UK for the financial year ending December 31, 2021

1. Introduction

As a major global provider of insurance and other solutions to improve the health, well-being and sense of security of our customers, Cigna is committed to acting as a responsible corporate citizen and supporting fundamental human rights. It recognises its part in combating all forms of forced labour, slavery and human trafficking. All Cigna companies throughout the world are bound by Cigna's Human Rights Statement, located here: Cigna - Human Rights Statement.

2. Structure

Cigna in the UK conducts its business through a number of different companies, namely Cigna Insurance Services (Europe) Limited, Cigna Life Insurance Company of Europe S.A.-N.V., UK branch, Cigna Europe Insurance Company S.A.-N.V., UK branch, Cigna European Services (UK) Limited and Cigna Global Wellbeing Solutions Limited. This statement is made on behalf of all those companies.

3. Our Employment Practices

Cigna is committed to treating all its employees with respect and protecting their human rights, dignity and security in the workplace. We operate a suite of policies and safeguards to ensure employees are treated fairly and have the opportunity to raise any grievances or concerns, and have them investigated impartially. When we recruit, we work only with reputable agencies and conduct rigorous pre-employment checks. We operate a compensation and benefits processes which ensure the salaries we pay are reviewed annually, benchmarked against the wider market and represent fair remuneration for the effort and commitment shown by our teams on a daily basis.

Cigna operates non-retaliation policies which ensure that staff can raise concerns about ethical or other matters in good faith without fear of suffering adverse consequences.

The benefits and rights available to Cigna staff are detailed and easily accessible on our Staff Intranet site, and our Human Resources Department is available to advise all employees and address any concerns that they may have concerning their employment.

4. Our Supply Chain

Where we operate as a purchaser of goods or services we expect a high level of ethical conduct from our suppliers. We incorporate a Supplier Code of Ethics into our supplier relationships which, among other matters, requires respect for human rights and prohibits the use of forced labour by our suppliers. Cigna's standard third party contracts ensure suppliers are contractually obliged to adhere to our Supplier Code of Ethics, located here: Cigna - Supplier Code of Ethics

Cigna operates a rigorous Global Procurement & Third Party Management process, which involves risk-assessing our proposed suppliers, conducting proportionate due diligence in relation to them, ensuring that contracts which comprise all the terms Cigna requires are entered into by them, and conducting appropriate monitoring and audit during the ongoing relationship with the supplier. Our supplier risk assessment processes include a third party ESG evaluation process, which includes elements of labour practices, for key suppliers with plans to expand the program in the future.

5. Our Ethics Helpline

Cigna prescribes a Code of Ethics which applies to all of its companies and staff around the world. Cigna staff have a variety of methods by which they can escalate concerns about breaches of the Code, or any other matters, including through their line
